In Loving Memory of Aiko

Aiko was so much more than a puppy to us. To my mom he truly was her son and to me he was my little brother and my best friend. He was the light in our household and he took his job as our protector seriously. Every day he would sit out on the deck making sure the deer and the squirrels and the bluejays were all behaving.

Even though he is gone we still keep his spirit alive by upholding his routine every single day. We still go to the park and do his two laps at Overpeck just like he did. We know he is watching over us from above and we miss him every day. Rest easy Aiko. You were the best brother and son we could have asked for.
