“ Artful Dodger and his sister, Little Princess, joined our family ten years ago when they were only two months old. Princess was outgoing from the start while Dodger was more circumspect.

Sadly, Little Princess was only with us two years before she passed. Although he missed her, Artful Dodger was surrounded by "brothers" and "sisters" in the form of Black Orpheus, Tiger, Athena, Bear, and Linus.

While not an "Alpha" cat, Dodger nevertheless asserted himself if need be. He was a gentle giant and got along well with all his brothers and sisters. We always laughed that he was first to the food bowl and last to leave.

He had his cat pleasures...sitting up high in the cat tree's crow's nest and sleeping on the hassock near my seat. Dodger also liked his spinning ball/cat scratcher. And he loved to "watch" television. We swore that he was so intent that he followed the storyline!

His song, fittingly, is "I'd Do Anything" from the musical, "Oliver".

When he wanted your attention, he would gently stretch out his front paw and touch your arm.

Our cats are diminishing as we grow older. Artful Dodger was predeceased by his brothers Black Orpheus and Bear.

We miss all of our departed friends, but Artful Dodger will always occupy a special place in our hearts.
