

Belle Hopper

April 30, 2011

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ Belle Hopper

January 28, 2023 at 12:38 PM

“ Belle Hopper

January 28, 2023 at 10:16 AM

“ Belle has been the sweetest gift to our family. She has loved us through the wonderful times and the horrible times that life deals us. Belle was very sick 4 years ago, about the time my beautiful sister Colleen was losing her battle with breast cancer. I felt Belle's time was approaching to leave us, and I begged her to hold on, as I would not be able to deal with losing her too. I know she heard my pleas, and she stayed. We had another beautiful 4 years with her, and I thanked her every day. Our fondest memories are of her jumping through the yard, running as fast as she could, enjoying the wind and sunshine. Her love was so innocent and beautiful. We all miss her so much, but she'll always be in our hearts. As they say in the poem "The Rainbow Bridge", until we meet again. We love you Belle. God Bless.

Kathy Hopper - May 06, 2011 at 05:18 PM