“ Bentley, I can't believe it's been one year since we made one of the hardest decisions and that was to let you go. You were one of the most loving , kind and gentle dogs, you brought so much love and happiness into our home. I miss your head on my and seeing your cute little face peaking out. You are truly missed every day and thought of all the time. Christmas was hard without you I missed seeing you laying under the Christmas tree, Chase was going back behind the tree this year I think he was missing you too. I hope you and Lacey are running free. You'll be forever My Boy. Love you forever B. Never forgotten 🐶💙

“ Bentley,

It's hard to believe that it has been one year since I had to call Dr. Bongiovanni. It was one of the hardest calls I ever had to make even though we all agreed that it wasn't fair for you to suffer any longer.

I do feel comfort knowing you are pain free, running and playing with Lacey at the Rainbow Bridge. However, I still think of you and miss you everyday. I can assure you that will never change. You will always hold a special place in my heart and thoughts.

Rest easy King B. Remember you are "One of a Kind" and will always be loved.

“ Hi Benny,

It's been one year without you, and somehow it still doesn't feel real. Time keeps moving, but part of me feels stuck, right where I lost you. There's still a constant feeling that something is missing in the house, and it's you. Your presence, your sounds, and the way you just exuded so much love. It might sound strange, but the house seems almost quieter now, and that quietness is heavy.

I think about you all the time. There's never a moment where you aren't somewhere in my thoughts. Sometimes it's a memory that makes me smile, and other times it hits me out of nowhere and I can't stop the tears from welling up in my eyes. You also show up in my dreams a lot. And waking up after those dreams hurts in a way I can't really explain. For a moment, it feels like I have you back, and then I don't.

I miss you so much, Bentley. I miss the way you'd come into the family room just to let me know you had to go out. I miss how excited you'd get when someone squeaked a toy and how you'd grab it and hold on tight with your teeth, like you never wanted to let it go. I miss how happy you would get when you heard the sound of your dog tag jingling when we took out your leash and harness. I even miss the sounds you'd make with your mouth, the little noises that used to drive me crazy sometimes, but now I'd give anything to hear them again. It's strange how grief works like that, how the smallest things become the things you miss the most.

I always knew losing you would be hard, the thought of it used to make my stomach drop, but I never imagined it would be this hard. I didn't know the grief would linger like this, or that missing you would become such a huge part of my everyday life.

You truly were such a special boy, who showed only love and kindness. It devastates me that you were in pain for the last few weeks of your life. You were too good and kind to deserve any of that. I hope you know that none of us wanted that for you. You were just so loved that it was incredibly difficult for us to let you go. Our hearts just couldn't accept what our minds were telling us.

A year has passed, but loving you didn't and will never stop. I'll forever carry you with me, in my heart and in all the quiet moments where I still expect you to walk into the room. I love you so so much, benny b, you'll forever be one of a kind. ❤️ ❤️

“ Hi Bentley,

Tomorrow marks one year since you crossed the rainbow bridge. I miss your bark, your cuddles, and the way you always waited for love. You were the sweetest, most gentle little boy, timid on the outside but full of so much affection. You truly were everything any family could've asked for in a dog. Thank you for the happiness you brought into my life, I will never forget it.

I love you forever, Bentley. 🌈 ☐

“ Hi Benny,

The holidays have passed now and the 1 year mark of your passing is coming up. I still can't believe it will be a year since you went to the rainbow bridge. It breaks my heart everyday still. I try not to remember the days when you were sick but it's hard. I miss you so much and wish I could hold you in my arms like a little baby one last time. Gabby had the most beautiful picture of you and Lacey made. It brings me some peace thinking of you and Lacey together again as young little puppies, healthy and happy. I love you so much and miss your cute face with those big puppy eyes. There's nothing I wouldn't do to come home and see you back on top of the couch.

*Love you Benny

“ Hi Bentley,

The holidays are here, and everything feels different without you. Honestly, the whole year has felt really weird. For a little doggy, you had such a big presence. I know things are going to feel strange without you this holiday season. Watching your stocking be hung already made me emotional, and it breaks my heart knowing you only got to use it once. Even the Christmas tree has a different feel to it, knowing that I won't be able to ask you to come out from behind it or that I won't see you laying underneath it. I hope you're happy and at peace, and know that there isn't a single day that goes by where I don't think about you. ☐ 🐾 ☐

I will love you forever, Beautiful B ❤️ ❤️

“ Happy Birthday Benny Boy

I can't believe you would've been 15 today. Most of all I can't believe you're not here with us to celebrate still. It's been such a loss for all of us this year. We all still think of you and talk about you so much. We talk about how you would be outside laying in the sun just like you loved to do. You were such a special boy. I look at your pictures and videos and it feels like I can go find you downstairs and cuddle you. I love you so much Bentley. You will always be in my heart everyday. Happy 15th Birthday. I know you and Lacey celebrated all day with treats and toys ☐🌈

Six months. Somehow it's already been that long since you left us, endless joy, and memories we'll carry for a lifetime. Not a day goes

I do need you to watch over your lil bro Chase right now though, B, we need him to be okay.

Today marks two months since you've crossed over the rainbow. I can't begin to tell you how much you are missed and talked about, B. Your absence is always felt but your memories will forever live in all our hearts. It's been a little over a month without you and the house still feels so strange. I'm not sure it will ever be the same, because you had such a huge presence. “ Bentley,

Your calmness and sweet demeanor will always be cherished. You exude the best qualities in a companion: love, safety, comfort, joy, loyalty, and the most adorable eyes to get lost in total endearment in. You gave your family and all friends the absolute best memories of your charming ways. Soar high and wide. May you rest sweetly now for you fought diligently to extend your time earthbound as long as possible; a true token to your unconditional love and boundless loyalty. You are loved!

“ Dear Bentley,

I cant help but think back to that time we took that walk to the park with your little brother Milo. I can still picture the pure joy on your face when we pulled out your leash, you were so full of excitement, like you knew a great adventure was awaiting. Every day when I walked through the door, you were always there to greet me with unconditional love and kisses. Your joyful spirit, and affection brought comfort and happiness into all of our lives. Although this has left a deep hole in our hearts and we are deeply saddened by your absence, we take comfort in knowing that you are no longer in pain. You were so loved, and we are forever grateful for the time we had with you. You will be missed more than words can express. You were truly one of a kind, and while you may no longer be by our side, you will forever live on in our hearts and memories.

“ Bentley, it's hard to remember a time before you were with the family. For so many years you greeted me at the door every time I came over, first with Lacey, and then with Chase and Milo, with that adorable little puppy face that always seemed to stay the same. And CC would be excited every time we parked at the house because she knew you and your brothers would be waiting by the door to see her.

You were with the family through good and bad times, bringing joy and sweetness, a constant who brought everyone comfort and happiness.

The entire family will miss you but may you be without pain and at peace, running free with Lacey. CC and I will look for you among the stars, always remembering you and knowing you're with us.

“ Bentley - My Benny Boy,

I miss you so much baby. My heart feels so broken. I can't stop looking at all your pictures and videos. You were such a happy and playful dog. So cuddly and sweet. My life was changed the day you came home to us and the day you left us. Chase and Milo keep looking for you, we can tell they are really sad. Chase keeps sniffing and looking around for you, he got happy smelling your fur. Milo was laying in your bed. They are going to miss cuddling next to their big brother just as much as we all will miss your cuddles. I am going to remember you as the sweet gentle boy you always were. Your little puppy face will always be on my mind and in my heart. I always called you my angel and now you really are. Thank you for 14 years of pure joy and happiness. I will hold onto our memories forever. Being your family has truly been the greatest gift of my life. I love you so much my beautiful boy. I know Lacey was waiting for you at the rainbow bridge. Even in your worst, you fought for more time here with us and I can't thank you enough for that. I find comfort in knowing you are pain free and reunited with Lacey girl.
