“ Chickentender, I'll never forget the times you stayed with us while your "Mommy" was away. You were so cute peeking out of your igloo in the morning and coming out just long enough to snatch up the carrots and lettuce I would feed you. You are so loved and had the best "Mommy" to take care of you and you brought so much joy to so many people. You crossed the Rainbow Bridge and I'm sure Roxy was there to greet you. Heaven has gained another angel.

Rest in Peace

Forever in our hearts, Love Aunt Gayle & Uncle Dennis

“ Rest in Peace Chickentender, I remember when I babysat for you, you would only come out of your cage for me at first, because you were a bit nervous and shy, but you seemed to warm up to me pretty quickly, and I remember picking you up and putting you next to Roxy, and Roxy was always so gentle with you. You and Roxy got along so well, even though she was so much bigger than you, you two never tried to harm each other, and seemed quite fond of each other. You both lived great lives, and you both will be greatly missed each and every day. Now you two can spend time playing in Heaven together. I'm sure all good pets go to Heaven. So, take care of each other up there.

*Love,
Your Cousin Krystle*
