and everyday we see more of you in Simon. He's no longer the spindly little dog we had for YEARS. Since your passing he's put on 3 whole pounds, and now breaths like you. Anyway, I know your with us even if it is through simon! :-) You probably evened out his temperament as he has aged. Whatever it is, I love it, as I love you!

“ Hi Mr. C!!!!

It's been 4 days since my last post/entry.... Things just seem to be so busy. I am trying so hard to keep our lives from being stressful and it just seems to always be stressful.

Anyway, I see you photo every night before I close my eyes to go to sleep and I think how blessed I am that I had you! Had it not been for that fateful night that you were brought into my life.....I don't know where I would be? There would have been no salvation for me. You were my gift from god, and from that came Simon and Mason who are carrying out your mission - LOL

I don't honestly know how I got so lucky with the three of you. for small dogs your all so special in your own ways individually.....

Clarence, you are my treasure. I love you so dearly.

“ i meant to tell you Simon and Mason went to the fireworks this year and were awesome!! Their first time and they were so good :-)

Marianne Friedman - July 07, 2015 at 07:58 PM

“ July 7th. Sorry its been a week since my last post. It has been busy, busy as you know. The boys have been packed up and we flew south.

It's getting tougher for Simon to travel by plane. He overheats easily, kinda of like you. It still amazes me that he has taken on so many of your traits and mannerisms since you passed away. I know it's nuts, but sometimes I look at him and see you in his eyes. three months after you passed, he put on weight and started coughing like you!!! Dad even noticed.

We joke and say you were reincarnated in Simon. He's become a calmer more gentle soul since you left us too. Which wasn't like him. I guess when we miss someone, we can see almost anything. I Miss you mr. C. so does Dad.

“ Where will we be in 5 years from now.....kind of like you wondering everyday, WHATS FOR DINNER!!! LOL I can't even image how you and simon think all day long about what your getting for dinner! You were the biggest dinner fan EVER!!! you would come out of the tree house from a dead sleep when you heard your dinner. A little dry food and pop the top of the can and you appeared - LOL like magic :-)
It truly is the little things in life that make us happy and smile. I think of all the magic you have sprinkled into my life over the many years you were with us. You were a game changer, you and that little golden soul of yours.
xoxo I love you Mr. C. Mom!!!

“ Today is Dad's Birthday!!! We celebrated in memory of you. Dad Mentions you often! WE both do.
No little man will ever hold a candle to you little one! We are both getting sentimental as we age, as we love and as we lose the ones we love.
There was a time we did nothing but attend weddings, then births, and now unfortunately it's funerals of the ones we hold dear. ;-(Just makes everyday that much more precious.
I wanted to hang on to you for as long as I could, but you were not you..... You were not comfortable anywhere....I'm so sorry your golden years were not what they should have been. Please forgive me.

Makes me smile ;-) but makes me miss you all the more :'-(Life is funny that it just keeps going when the ones we love leave us. Leave us hopefully with the strength to keep moving through the quicksand we feel we are walking in. Seems like forever sometimes until you actually feel like your stronger then the sand, pulling yourself out.

Salvation.....That's what you were to me, my salvation.

“ Hi Mr. C.

Did you know your a soul saver? that's why your a creature of god. I know all animals are even us. But there is something super special about some animals. You are one of them.

I saw a movie tonight called still alice.....:-(was very sad about alzheimer's disease, like grandma has. I may get it to one day. I have been worried about symptoms over the last few months, but have chalked it up to undo stress....I hope. Between losing Grandpa, you and all the moving around we have done over the last 4 years.

Anyway, I saw the heart break in the movie and could relate to the confusion and fear of losing ones life and the memories.

I'm grateful for you, the time we shared. I love you little man!!

God only knows what he will bring us everyday.

I still can not believe it has been a year since I lost you. I hate the memory of that day. i was so traumatized by your loss with all that was going on in life at the time. The pain of your loss still burns in my heart whenever I think of you, all the traveling you would have rather not done at your age. I'm so sorry. You were the best part of me. Always. “ This will be the last candle in rose color for the Month.

On your anniversary day or your Rebirthday I think I will pick blue for the Month of May.....

Because I am so blue without you here with us. I think that will be the color for May forever besides you were my very first little boy, and boys should always be represented by blue ;~)

I can't believe it, I can't believe it.....I really can not believe you have been gone an entire year!!!So sad. I miss you so very much!

I don't know if part of your soul has been placed in Simon, but I would swear that it was. He seems more like you since you have gone. His whole body type has changed, his demeanor has changed and somehow, he has even managed your cough - I know it sounds crazy....Even his breath smells like yours now...weird. It's nice to think your still here, really here with us, but I know heaven is an even better place than here. I am assuming much less stressful too. No traveling. I'm not a fan of it myself.

I love you today C, more than ever! your my little man with a huge heart and the soul of an angel. You truly were the best therapy dog ever!!!! I hope you get lots of cookies in heaven.

“ UGH, Mr. C.....

May 1st is approaching VERY fast!!! May 1st is one of the saddest days of my life. Out of 47 years, May 1st is by far the worst. The second is October 27th. Grampa's anniversary.

When will I see you again? Will I actually see you? does god have a plan for us to be together again like all family? Will you remember me?

You were always the best part of me.....I never thought of going anyplace without you..... I recently read an article that said that animals under stress would bump thier heads into things.

Were you stressed or just a reaction to blindness and deafness?? Since you were both.

(heavy sigh) I just miss you and your fishy breath. I come across your diapers everywhere and my heart is soooo heavy for you.

Will i see you again? Send me a sign.

“ Hi Mr. C.

Dad made a donation in your name today. Simon and I are leaving tuesday to go see Grandma.Not sure how the trip will go. Joyce just lost tony and Debby and Uncle David have their differences. Hopefully they are working them out. I have a few suggestions that I will make when I am down there, but that is all I will do. Since I am not in a place to tell anyone what to do, but when they come knocking on our door the answer will be no.....

To bad that I feel that way. but being though what we have been though, I'm not shielding anyone from their issues. tired of that. Even you, dealing with Dad and I going through our stuff at your stage of life, Not acceptable!! we were wrong and you delt with life as it was handed you until the end, you told us enough was enough..... No more car, no more planes, no more bag. It took me too long but I got it....So sorry Mr. C. I never meant for you to pass the way you did. I always wanted it peaceful.

*You deserved that. You deserved the best.....I'ms sorry, you were always there for me. I wasn't there for you when it meant the most to you!!! For this i will have a VERY hard time forgiving myself.

How was your Clarence Day? I wasn't feeling so hot today. I have these headaches all the time lately, makes my day a bit slow. kinda like yours i guess when you started losing your hearing and eye sight.

Tends to slow one down.

Clarence, I am so sorry we couldn't let you pass in your sleep. It was too hard on you everyday. You were in so much pain, Dad and I couldn't bare to see you like that anymore. You were so uncomfortable all the time.

I think of it everyday, and it hurts!!!

We so wanted you drift off into one of your deep sleeps and float your way to heaven all by your independant little self.

“ 2-26-15 Time just keeps on going.....

Like they say time and tide waits for no man.

I watch your candle flicker every night as I drift off to sleep, wondering what has become of your beautiful soul.....Can you see me?

can you see any of us? your brothers? Do you comfort them as they age?

I swore I heard you in the living room the other day burring something as you often did. I wonder if I really hear you. There have been times i smell a very strong aroma of Roses when there are no flowers.....They were Dad's favorite. I would swear he was there. It has only happened twice. but twice is enough to know he's watching and with us. Thank God.

Please watch over us always little man ;-) we love you still.....<3 “ Hi Baby C!!! How was you Clarence Day? I had a very sad day today. It's actually been a sad couple of days.

I wish I could call you out from the tree house or come upstairs and see you sleeping peacefully on our big bed.

*I was making the bed today and looked down and saw Simon staring at me looking SO much like you.....Except he didn't follow me back and forth in a panic while I made the bed desperate for me to pick him up and let him sleep on the bed like you used to. LOL that was so darn cute and funny!!!! I miss you little man!! I know I say it everytime I'm on here with my bleeding heart. But....there it is, my companion for 18 years called to heaven :'-(
I love you Mr. C!

“ Mr. C. It's February the 13th and I had a whole day planned pretty much for the last month for Valentines Day..... and one comment has put a major damper on it all.....Even though it should have.

I can not live with the hurtful remarks anymore and the constant comments on what I did to hurt Dad....

Funny how the boys can get upset with him and he makes his comments to them but, he will run to apologize to them as soon as he gets a chance because he is SO afraid of hurting their feelings and making them feel bad. But with me I barely get an apology these days.....Like the constant testing....He really thinks I'm an idiot. EVEN when he knows he was wrong like tonight. WE were watching Legends of the fall. "I will bring you nothing but hurt" was the comment.

You will have to read my journal to read the rest so it isn't on the internet.

Also funny, that Gould made a comment/compliment about us the other day and I didn't have much to say other than we'll see....we are in a bad situation either way. With both the boys and i guess with me too.....All he wants to hear is compliments.....And how he THERE WILL BE NO FORGIVENESS FOR ME. Like i have been told I have to live with the constant comments or leave.....????

Thanks for letting me vent!!! LOL Things will be better tomorrow.....

I do miss my old life without all the digs and comments.....

I miss you Mr. C. you loved me no matter what.

I find I want to have more time alone than anything. Kinda like you running to the tree house for hours on end! LOL Oh well, maybe somewhere over the rainbow :-)
Where bluebirds fly, I will find you :-)
Then my dream will come true! See you in my dreams Mr. C!

14" of snow later!!! here we are and more to come on Thursday! Why anyone lives in the north is beyond me.
I will admit.....like you, we love the snow! it's beautiful if you don't need to go anywhere. but when it's done.....you want it to disappear!
LOL seriously.
We missed you today Mr. C. like we do everyday.

Adam and Aaron were eagerly looking for the pieces of bread we hid around the house and they mysteriously disappeared.....LOL we went to the last place we knew we hid some and there you were!!! caught!!! red pawed eating the bread!!! That was so very funny for us all!!!

We will be three months shy of one year.....one year!!.....'(Who can believe that. One year. One Year.....We have been in the new condo for 6 months OMG, where does the time go? does anyone actually know. Once today is gone, it's never to be retrieved again.....I knew that that faithful day the first of May.....I was sad, scared and in disbelief that I was really going to be without you. I honestly thought I was going to the vet and you would get yet another medication and be ok.....So hard to let goisn't it? Like I said I can't imagine my life has gone on so long already without you. And simon and mason.....they will more than likely parish very close to one another. They are so close in age and in souls. I miss you Mr. C.....My little dreamer.....i miss you waking me at night with your dreams. I hope they are all coming true now. Chasing that squirrel you always thought you could catch, butterflies in the garden, you weren't really sure of what they were. They are the same age roughly and they are growing old together....We also fear for one if the other goes..... There is just no fix for the fear of loss. Your memory with us is infinitesimal. I don't know if there is such a thing as a soul mate for pets and families.....But I do know that you were our soul mate. You fit your Dad and me perfectly...."YOU ME AND C" your on our hearts like a tattoo.

“ January 3rd! Well, May will be here in 4 months and you will be gone for an entire year!! You know how in movies they sometimes grant special dispensation for loved ones who are passing or have recently passed.? I wish I could get it with Grandpa and you. I do see you in my dreams.....I am usually following you somewhere, but i don't know where. The dream never reveals it. I have a candle, it's dark and your in front of me at the edge of the light and you stop each time you get just into the dark and wait for me. It wasn't scary....I just kept following until I woke up.

Dad came across a great photo of you on New Years Day. It's a picture of you, Dad, Simon and Mason in front of our old fire place on Long Hill Drive. Boy do I miss the good days in life.....I miss you. Life has changed SO much. I miss working. I miss lower stress levels. I miss the freedom of not having my mistake come up on a daily basis. I do feel as though I may just snap and really leave one day.....the conversation and constant mention DAILY of what I did will come up and I will be so sick of hearing it and know for sure that I will ALWAYS hear it that it won't want to deal with it anymore. It is already effecting me Three years after the fact. I want to push everything away and have nothing. Just silence.....and not have the sheet of shame cast on me everyday. Like yesterday and today at Vernon Diner. There isn't a single subject that I can talk about freely that doesn't turn around on me :-)

Is there really forgiveness Mr. C? I know you knew nothing but happiness, contentment even with the tremendous (oversized heart) and hole in your heart, 7 surgeries removing urinary crystals, upper respiratory issues.

YOU WERE JUST SO SO SO SO GOOD!!! my angel boy!!! Oh how I miss you and I miss you dreaming at night. LOL

“ *New Years Eve 2014.....I will never forget the year since we lost our first baby boy. 8 months to the day (tomorrow - January 1st) you have been gone from our lives. Sad, Sad, sad to say good bye. I wish I never had to say good-bye. It's another year we age, another year we lost loved ones. But it gives us the opportunity to take on new challenges. Not necessarily for me, I'm not looking for new challenges. I'm looking for peace - some serenity perhaps. As I have reflected on your golden years with all our moving around.....it was confusing and unsettling and unfair. I know that it was for you because it was and still is for me....Now I feel like I have no ...purpose. Since Dad died and your gone it's hard to feel a sense of "family" Mom isn't doing well, she doesn't even know who I am anymore, so conversations are difficult. All my sibilings your aunt and uncles are all in stressful places. There isn't much anyone can do to help them all...:-(I hope 2015 is a better year, I know it will be with you watching over us with Dad :-) Keep each other safe!!! xoxox We love you Mr. C Even though it's a new year, it will still be: "you me and C" ALWAYS I love you!! I would have said good night to you there, but it's not as easy there. I don't have the privicy that I have here. I really miss you. I look at your photo and your candle with your big bright coal eyes so big so sparkly!!! I miss the good old days with us.....Life will never be the same, it's full of regret, hurt and sometimes anger without you and grandpa here. I know some days are better than others but the off days are so sad :-(Christmas isn't the same....My first Christmas without you.....was very difficult....Family is everywhere. I am afraid to arrange a get together with them because of family / work differences and it just causes too much stress....You know this crazy family LOL that's why we always said "you me and C" if we ever ran away!!! :-)

“ December the 21st. The other night we were walking through the condo and Dad said to me, I wonder what people are going to think when they see all this Clearance stuff in each room.

I had not realized it, but there you are present in almost every room in the house. Your my first born.....The best boy EVER!!! So, my reply was who cares what they think....If it bothers you I will remove it. But if it doesn't, then he's perfect wherever he is. :-) I love seeing you in the house, makes me feel at home and comfortable. I often wonder if you have seen my Dad (grandpa) in heaven....Maybe across from Rainbow Bridge.

Marianne Friedman - December 16, 2014 at 03:28 PM

“ Today was a cold, rainy, grey day. Very Somber. Days like today make me miss you and Dad so much.....I want you to know that I am sorry if I ever got mad at you. If I did, it was never because of you but because of life in general....You were my salvation. I never really got mad at Dad either, I got mad at surrounding circumstances....very frustrating, I don't think I need to tell you. but in all the sole searching I have been doing I have realized that most of lifes frustrations are because of what I hold inside. That's why I have had a hard time losing you....I never really mourned my Dad. Well....not the proper way. When it ever came time to let you go, I couldn't...I was hanging on to you with my last breath. Even at the last moment I wanted to take you and run, run as far and as fast as I could. I still beat myself up about what I could have done to save you or heal you.....but you were just tired and were giving out and I was being selfish....I just never thought you would ever die. At 18 you looked like a puppy. Not any puppy, my puppy. My little miracle. My special gift to care for the best soul that ever lived.

I Thanked God for you last night. I actually thank him a lot for you and my blessed life that I am so very lucky to have. But it's just not the same anymore, still blessed, but missing you and Dad and all the loss we have had (dad and I) I just feel uncomfortable most of the time. The nice thing is, I find comfort still in you ;-) just the thought of you makes me smile.

“ November 5th....We are all back in the city for my birthday.....This is my first birthday without you here..Makes me very sad. Hurts my heart. Dad made a point today about children and how we love them. He mentioned you....He said that there wasn't anything I wouldn't do for you and I would have changed your diapers and cleaned your eyes and picked you up every time your legs gave out.....He was right. I would even if you lived to be 25!!! LOL

Sometimes children get frustrating for us all for different reasons, different times, etc., etc. but we love them just the same.

I LOVE YOU MR. C. !!!

I actually requested to go home for my birthday. The city isn't the same since I lost you here.....it never will be.....you have been coming to NYC with us since you were about 6 months old. "living at the lowell" LOL

The post house is gone too, your favorite hang out when we weren't at the hotel. They SO loved you there.

Sucks that your gone.....plain and simple....just a deep belly and heart ache.

xoxox See you in my dreams! I love you! Mom

“ Hi Mr. C!!
November 2nd. I noticed today that Simon is really beginjing to look so much like you....I don't know what has happened over the last six months but he has put on a lot of weight and he is getting a squinty left eye, just like you. Are you in his body???? LOL
Miss you CMan!

“ Today is November the 2nd.....one day past your sixth month anniversary. Green will be the color for November....Not sure why, I thought it would be nice....We got in so late last night from the Humane society gala. Your photo was on our table in honor of your memory..... I'm so tired Mr. C, I know how you must have felt, in your golden years....to damn tired to trek back and forth from Florida to Connecticut and in and out of NYC....I'm tired too!!! I don't want to go anywhere anymore.....not even NYC. I miss you little man....everyday.....:'-(

“ October 31..... Halloween.....Tomorrow November 1st will be your 6th month anniversary of your death.....DEATH, i hate that word, more so than ever. Hard to celebrate anything when Grandpa's death was the 27th of October and your 6 month anniversary is November 1..... I really miss you here with us. I see you everyday, your memorial candle still burns, it has not been our since your passing and your portrait is the main focal point of our living room. I love you Mr. C, I hope you had a good "clarence day" :-)

“ *My little man C.....good night my sweet prince! I love you and think of you everyday.....everyday.....:-(my heart is heavy with you not here and helping to take any pain away. Away from everyday.....you were and are my salvation. I never realized how much I really relied on you to get me through life.....I guess, just like you, you relied on us to get you through your life....as you aged, no sight, barely any sound all you could feel were vibrations in the floor and hear ridiculously loud noise.....your nose NEVER failed you though....LOL you always knew when dinner was about to be given to you three!! LOL makes me smile.
Simon and Mason are good little boys, angels too....But none will ever compare to you. I love you Mr. C!

I just can not believe it.....I love the drawing of you and I in NYC that is in my closet. You and I were such babies!! LOL
I miss you forever and a day Mr. C! Sweet dreams baby boy.....Mommy loves you and misses you at the foot of the big bed.

Marianne Friedman - October 29, 2014 at 07:17 PM

“ Hi Mr. C!!! what a crazy day we had here today!! you would have slept through the whole thing!! we had painters here, auntie Pat was here hanging draperies the cable guy was here and the the audio people for our tv!!! whew!!!
Uncle Jimmy came by today too! Its the first time he's seen our place here in somers since we sold the big house.
You know what I find funny, you never left the yard.....in Talcottville or in Somers.....Once we moeved there, you just cruised the perimeter and came back to the stoop of the back door and would bask in the sun until i came for you. You were just a lovely little boy. Lovely.....good night Mr. C, I will see you in my dreams! xoxox

“ October 24th.....(heavy sigh) Mr. C.....it's 24 years after the fact and I still wonder if I made a mistake.....Dad and I ran into Lynn today at Chuck wagon....you loved their food, you loved everyone's food...LOL

Dad said he was encouraging Aaron to bring Ling home.....???? Not from any conversation we have had. Either way we will be supporting him and adam.....Adam is going on this trip to Tennessee and I bet Dad is going to pay because Adam is waiting until the last minute to book the RV. Dad keeps trying to convince me that Adam is better than Aaron.....NOT TRUE....they are the same.....Adam is costing Dad a lot of money....just because he has a job? That Dad has, Dad pays his car, Dad pays his insurance, Dad Pays his rent. He does all the same for Aaron and he has no job. costs less because he has no car, no insurance.....what to do???? you and I have chatted about all this SO many times in the car, it's actually nauseating!!! No I have it on a daily basis worse than it has been in years, that took a back seat to our fall out....Now it's just a double whammy.....I used to think when their older, when their older it will be better. Boy was I wrong. Dad thinks that I need to talk to someone because I am messed up. He's as messed up in a different way but just doesn't see it. I have been trying to tell him that these things have all existed for years and he chose to ignore them until we came to a head.....I should have stood my ground and been more difficult when the kids were younger....Remember our chats in the car? You would just sit on the console and kvetch looking at me. LOL

Boy do I miss you!!! I miss a lot of things. Sleep well Mr. C! I love you xoxox Mom “ Hi Mr. C...It has been a busy few days. We all just came back from Rosh Hashanah in NYC. I have asked god for forgiveness for my sins. I ask all the time in case I have ever offended anyone without even knowing it. I sent letters to all your aunts and uncles too. Usually, I just talk to you and tell you everything.....Your not here beside me anymore but I still talk to you along with god and grandpa.

Mr. C, if you were ever ill treated by Dad or me, I am truly sorry. We only wanted the best for you and did whatever we could to keep you safe and healthy. I know there were all too many vet visits for you little man and many surgeries to keep you from getting sick. It was a lot for such a little man to go through.....I'm sorry. I also know that as you were approaching 18 (this past September 6th) all the shuffling around between Florida and Connecticut was really difficult for you. Us too. You just always trusted us to do what was right for you. I love you more than my own life, you were the best best best friend I ever had. I know you loved us SO much to, even little Mason and Simon. You didn't like them so much in the beginning but they became your possie! LOL

Mason was a bit of a creep to you a few times during all our traveling. I am apologizing for him, (I know he would want me to) So please forgive me and us with that massive heart you were so lucky to have and share with all of us.

I love you Mr. C. I MISS YOU EVERYDAY!!!!!! EVERYDAY!!!!

“ July 31.....Last night of a blue candle. What shall we choose for August? It is toward the end of summer, so how about Green?? Then we are into fall which would be yellow or red. :-)

*I think green. Dad and I love and miss you C. We have called you by name and expected you there, without thinking.....your in our hearts and on our minds. I guess when that happens, you never die. That thought brings a smile to my face.....you, the thought of you, brings a smile to my face. We were never deserving of such a wonderful soul to grace our lives. But ever so grateful that god blessed us with you.

Dad is out walking the boys, and the melody of the music while doing a daily chore" the dishes" I had to stop and send a note to our beloved Mr. C. such a beautiful boy, such a beautiful soul.....so treasured and so missed.....as I wrote before, I imagine you flitering around in you Lily white wings like you used to around the back yard in Talcottville. XOXO my little man we love you TONS AND TONS!!!!

“ Today is July 29th....as your anniversary approaches, the more I think....May 1st....one of the worst days to be recorded in my life....I have a couple. But I just can not believe that your not here getting ready for the road trip....everyone says it gets easier, it doesn't....Life goes on, but the sadness stays deep in my heart. Dad and I were talking about you this morning on your first trip to Miami Beach. You were such a hit on the board walk with all the women. LOL we did get a laugh at the memory. Mr. C.....you"ll go down in history as the one who set the bar, just like dad said. :-) We love you little man, I wish you could feel me stroke the top of your head and follow down your back to wish you a quiet "goodnight baby boy"
Love you always, Mom

“ July 28th we are counting down to Saturday. One day after your 3rd month anniversary. I have a very special Mr. C bag with all of your things in it to make the trip with us.....certainly not the same as having your fluffy little body sitting on my lap on a road trip!
I miss you sweet boy.....everyday! When i look at your chair it makes my heart sink with sadness.... I love you baby C, see you in my dreams! Thanks for sending the doves!!!

“ July 27th....august 1st is a few days away and that will be another anniversary of you being gone from our lives. All of May, all of June, all of July.....(big sigh) I just miss you Mr.C.....I say good night every night and say a little something in front of your candle. Sometimes it's just "I love you little man"
See you in my dreams <3

“ Saturday July 26th. Dad and I went to see the re-release of two rehabilitated sea turtles today released at Disney in Vero. It's about a mile or so walk down our beach. What a way to start the day!! Made me think of you while cheering on those two healed and freed females back to the big old blue.....Made me think of your running carefree in heaven!! remember....."run, run as fast as you can, you can't catch me I'm C-man"!!!! You used to think you were wonder dog (you actually were to us)
We also got your memorial gift in today to bring to Dr. Hensen when we go back up North. I love it! I love anything with your photo.....I miss you Mr. C.....xoxox Mom “ July 25.....I cant even do this tonight.....I am so sad you aren't here going to our new place with us. Nothing is the same anymore. sometimes I wish I had a tree house to run to when I didn't want to deal with anyone, like you did. LOL The big bed had two purposes.... I love you little man, I miss you everyday. Our gift for Dr.Hensen came in today. Makes me feel good to give it to them. on all our behalf. Love you C man!!

“ July 24.....I just miss you...I am having a hard time figuring out how to travel with you safely I had such a bad dream last night about my car catching fore on the transport to CT. With all your documents in there! I was so worried I woke up and re arranged everything in the car to remove your paperwork only....scrapbook,photos etc. I really don't like you not hereXoxo see you in my dreams !!!

“ Today is Wednesday July 23rd.....counting down to going back up North.....;'-(without you.....

I'm so sorry all the craziness in our life hurt you. You are the last thing Dad and I ever wanted to hurt in anyway especially in the winter of your life. All the traveling and not having your comfy chair every night to sleep on to give you comfort as well as the comfort of familiar surroundings when you were so frail....I am so,so sorry my sweet.

*I miss you more than anyone will ever know. I sit here every night and shed tears thinking of our life together "you, me & C" the three musketeers we were. But what Dad wrote last night is true, we are selfish humans.....I wish that weren't the truth.....the saying "if love could have saved you, you would have lived forever" is true! I wish I could have had you for as long as I lived. either way, you are with me anyway. good night little man, I'll see you in my dreams.

Hello Mr. C! Mom talked about you a lot tonight. She, and I really miss you...:(We love to brag about how great , and proud we are of you still, and always will be. No one will ever live up to your standards. (you set the bar to high for all)

Mason I think really misses you. (Simon does in his own way) But Mason, he had to attach to Harry when he was here... And Harry isn't you my dear Clarence... Not even close! I am sure you are still with us, by all the signs you show mom,and me. (The doves!) Thank you for that.

We will see you when it is our time.

Clarence,.... Know that you are still loved, and missed. We are selfish humans, and would have kept you here for us as long as we could have, and I know you are now with Dad, eating lots of toast! :)

Love you Mr. C!

Dad

After you left my life I cried so hard I never thought I would stop. The elephant on my chest was with me for almost two months!
I loved seeing the dove yesterday....It makes me feel good to think you are free of surgeries, urinary crystals and a whole heart flying free and watching over us. That makes me happy, because I know you will never forget us, we were your world like you were ours.

We started preparing to head north today and I was overtaken with sadness putting all the dog treats, leashes and bowls together for the trip and found your travel ID badge :- (I can not believe we are heading up there and you physically won't be with us. But I do know you will be and are with us because when Dad and I talked about it heading to the beach for our walk, the morning dove landed right in front of us on the beach walk!!! amazing! You will be coming with us wherever we go whenever we go! Both of our hearts ache for you. We looked at so many photos of you today since you were just a baby and you just got better and better with age.....:-) Like we always said....."as good as gold and better" that's you. “ Grief....what does it feel like? I have only experienced three that were very significant. Yours Mr. C being one of them.....Grandpa and Auntie Norma.....It feels like a bucket of rocks.....

when we did the bible camp we had a day to paint rocks. Every time I lifted that bucket, it felt like what I feel like inside heavy and uneasy, it got heavier and heavier each time I lifted it up.

I do see more light when talking about all three of you. And I am smiling more, but the hole inside is huge! I know they say time heals all wounds, but what if you have too many wounds???? I guess one would just need more time????

Anyway, I miss you my little man! XOXO Mom

“ June 29th Dad and I went to a party today for his cousin Andy who turned 50. They got on the subject of dogs who were members of their family and how long they lived. I couldn't even get in the conversation because I could feel the tears welling up inside, so I just left the room for a glass of water. Still.....talking about you is difficult for me. It's hard to have a conversation without the shaking in my voice then the spillover of tears. It isn't as frequent, but I never know when it will effect me. Well Mr. C, it's time for you and me to recharge our batteries. I love you little man!!

“ today (June 28th) was a beautiful day.....so were all the others the dove has shown up here...Maybe you are telling us on these beautiful days you are soaring!, We know you are, you special little man with a soul as pure as fresh falling snow and a heart as big as mount Everest and the determination of a strong little tug boat...you never quit anything. Surgery after surgery you still persevered....I thought of you on my 18 mile bike ride this morning....I wanted to quit, but I thought of you, and everything you and we have been through together. Dad was wondering why my eyes were teary when we got home.....you are a big part of me and my strength. "Run, Run, as fast as you can, you can't catch me, I'm the "C" man!!" Remember that??? Soar baby boy, Soar!!!!

I don't know what to think of that but I am taking it as positive and I am loving his presents. Aunt Linda and Uncle Patrick are coming next week with cousin Harry. All are a little apprehensive of coming in for the first time without you here. Understandably so.....I am feeling uneasy about it too....I know I will cry, I know Aunt Linda will to. We miss you Mr. C. I do hope your there with George Baily and Aiden as well as Dad. He will keep you safe ;-) “ June 27th (heavy sigh) Friday.... My little man C.....I find it hard to breath sometimes. I think of going back to CT. to a new home without you....I think of going back to NYC WHERE YOU LEFT MY LIFE ;'-(;'-(I'm tired....Today was the last day with the kids at the camp....Deep down i feel like running away from my life. I'm sure you felt like that too sometimes toward the end....Especially with me, running you to the vet every time i thought something might be wrong....putting you on more medication. Everything was to keep you more comfortable. I'm Sorry if that was a mistake. Maybe we should have considered things sooner. I don't know.

All I know is I am trying to find my life again and what makes me ok. Still so weird without you here.
I know your in God's hands now and I know your safe....That alone makes me happy. I didn't see the dove today....So crazy that he was here yesterday!!

“ June 26th....I am so excited!!! Dad and I just got home from dinner to find a MORNING DOVE sitting on the banister of our terrace looking into the bedroom!!!! It is 8:30 at night!!! We just stood and stared at him (which we think is you) he just sat and stared right back at us. The entire time looking inside our room where we all sleep. Not even motioning to move his head toward the ocean!!! OMG made me so happy that God sent a messenger!!! Maybe I am crazy.....but in the little over two years we have owned this place we have NEVER seen a dove....EVER!!! The first appearance was the very first morning after we got here!!! Our first time here without you Mr. C ;'-(..... I have been crying since I scared your father with my gasp when I saw the dove RIGHT OUTSIDE THE WINDOW LOOKING IN!! He hung out for twenty minutes!!!! 8:57 When he flew away.... <3 I Miss you Clarence my baby boy!!! Who is now forever young!!! ;'-(I love you, MOM XOXOX

Do you remember, you were only 7 months old and you went on your first flight to Florida to grandma and grandpas house...LOL they were so excited to meet see you at their house!!! The first time they meet you was at Christmas time when they were visiting us. You were so little then. your Name tag was so big it dragged on the ground when you walked or ran down the street!! LOL Dad and grandpa laughed when they took you for a walk, thinking you would never grow into the tag attaching you to us!! I think you weighed all of 3 pounds if we were lucky.*

Anyway, we have a memorial candle lit right next to your for grandpas birthday today. two of our most special souls in our lives. The BEST part of all our pictures I see.....your always smiling, which makes me smile! XOXO I love you my baby C!!!

“ June 22nd Dad and I are heading up a craft class in a summer kids camp starting tomorrow. We were seriously.... Joking about how much you loved being around kids! You were amazing with kids! we used to worry about how you would behave with kids and you never failed to amaze either one of us, even as you aged. We thought for sure that you would have your moments in your older years of possibly being nippy.....NEVER HAPPENED, you got more trusting and more gentle with every year. My angel boy....no other way to describe you. When your eyes were going, you relied on your brothers and your hearing and sense of smell. When you your hearing started to fail you relied on us and your brothers as well as your sense of smell to get what you needed. You never failed us or yourself.....A lesson learned. Or should be learned by many including myself :-) I do aspire to be like you. None offensive, gentle, loving and true. Life is too short to be any of those things.....You had it right from day one and you were always grateful for us and the time all the vets said you didn't have here with us. LOL, you fooled them all C.....I wish you could have lived forever. I would have loved you as long as I am alive.....I actually will love you as long as I am alive<3.....Good night my sweet prince! “ June 15. I hung some photos today of you Simon and Mason....I placed you in twenty different spots. I wanted to make sure I could see you every time I walked into the room. I ended up putting the pictures where I could see them from bed. So I can glance at the three of you when i journal in the evenings or read a book. If brings me comfort to see you there. I miss you so Clarence. It is funny that Simon in the last 5 months has really taken on a resemblance of you. I still call him Clarence I probably will the rest of his life! xoxo my son. I love you forever and a day.

“ June 14th Simon and Mason are not the same since you've been gone. I may have mentioned this before but....They refuse to eat the same food they did with you. I have tried to trick them and mix it with your favorite wet food and every time they pick out every piece of the food you all ate. I don't know how they do it. Anyway, we are all still off kilter and will be for the rest of our life....At least I will be sweet little man. I had a dream about you last night....I wish I woke up and you were still here sleeping on your chair or in the dining room by dads chair....I Miss you !! I hope you had a good Clarence Day!

“ Today is June 12th....Uncle Patricks 73rd birthday. I had a hard day today. Missing you and that cute little pudgy face of yours. I miss you dreaming at night. I was thinking about how you would dream at night and I would get up and stroke your head right down your back to your tail to wake you just a bit so you didn't wake up Dad. I would stay with you for a moment, you would take a deep breath and lick my wrist and go back to sleep. I can't help thinking I'm missing something everyday. Whenever we go someplace I'm looking for you.....I'm constantly looking for you. Sweet dreams my little man! I love you forever and a day.

“ June 11th. Dad is in CT. and asked me to say hello to you :-) I promised I would. I talked about you today to a friend here in Vero. Told her what an angel you were here on earth and how I miss you everyday.

I came across this quote I had to write down and share with you.

" All the darkness in the world can not extinguish the light of one candle" St. Francis of Assisi

SO TRUE!!! you are my special angel.....I look at photos of you everyday over the years and you never really changed much, only you got smaller as you got older. But what a great soul you had and you showed it in your face. The thought makes me smile.....I love you Mr. C!!! I'll talk to you tomorrow....

“ June 9th Monday. Dad just told me to tell you he misses you everyday!!!! :- (He also said Mason Misses you too!
He does.....I have caught him sleeping on your chair. I have kicked him off a couple of times because I am not ready to have him sit in your space.....That is your special spot and has been for at least a decade!!! I know it sounds silly but he doesn't belong in your seat. I still wake up in the middle of the night looking to see if your there and ok.....I still cry at night looking at the empty spot where you once occupied so sweetly and comfortably.....I miss you too! You are the Brightest light in my life.....I never did anything but gush about you.....good as gold and better. :-) “ June 8th I read a quote today that reminded me of you.....

"you gain strength, courage, and confidence by every experience in which you really stop to look fear in the face.

You must do the thing which you think you can not do" That was Eleanor Roosevelt....

Easier said than done, that's why it stuck out to me. Facing you gone has been in the top three things in my life I have had to deal with and was deathly afraid of.

Missing you as always. Mom

“ June 6 Aunt lindas birthday she is 56 today!!!!
Wow!!! Tomorrow is DAD will be 50 tomorrow your gift is there....your own card to dad....I wrote it before we lost you. Again, the pain in my heart every time i even think of you.....JUST HURTS. Not having you here. Masons tail hasnt been up in three days on this trip....your his security blanket and your missing!!!
Good night my sweet prince!

yesterday.....Travel day... you of all know what that is like. We planned on you joining on dad's 50th birthday party in palm beach. just us chickens.....Was to be the possie of 5 and now it is 4....WE MISS YOU....Dad said last night at dinner how losing you is up there in the top two things of the worst things that has ever happened to him.....just writing that makes my heart ache.....

“ June 3....Dogs...do not ruin their sleep worrying about how to keep the objects they have, and to obtain the objects they have not. There is nothing of value they have to bequeath except their love and their faith..... I truly aspire to be like you Clarence...You are probably one of the best role models anyone could ever have. I also think that when god created dogs, he sat down and smiled...Beautiful thought...I love you my eldest fur kid. Candle is still burning very brightly.....I love you baby boy.

Dad and I went for a ride today and I was looking for signs. Signs that you are ok. I took two photos on my cell that were SO amazing!!!! Truly a sign from God and you after my sad night last night. I can't even describe the photos. They brought me to tears....Literally.

I will upload them in the morning....Heaven, Just heaven.....I know your there.....If ever there was a pure soul that deserved to go there, it is yours. I Love you and your Dad loves and misses you too!!

“ May 29....Thursday. The void....I have gone through so many photos. I have many digital ones, but since you have been with us, digital photos didn't exist. I spent the last few days going through so many things searching.....searching for more images of you. I feel like I am grasping for my last breath just to hang on to you. I feel bad for your dad, he doesn't quiet know what to do with my grief of you.....the "you , me and C" isn't there anymore and I am really trying to get used to that. I'm having a difficult time not seeing you out of the corner of my eye. I was always watching for you.....always, my sweet little angel. So many memories I think of through the day.....hope you had a good "Clarence Day" I love you! MOM

“ Wednesday the 28th of May.....today I was asked about you.....and how I was doing. I couldn't not answer. In my gut was a rumble of emotion and I could feel the tears beginning to build. I know your in a better place then we are and I know your happy and whole. No heart issues, no urinary crystals and no painful cough. But I would have kept you here forever if just my love alone could save and keep you. I don't know if this feeling will ever go away when you are mentioned to me.....I don't think it will ever go away. You are my sweet little angel always have been. I still talk to you everyday. Hard to believe you have been gone 28 days.....28 days I have been feeling this 20 lb weight on my chest missing your sweet face enter a room with a permanent smile.....I can't wait to see you again. I know you will be there to greet us when we come to you ;-)

“ Clarence, It is May 25th. Sunday. Tomorrow is Memorial Day! Dad and I lit a candle in remembrance of Zeti and Grandpa. They both loved you SO!!! Grandpa with sneaking toast corners to you whenever he could and Zeti just loved holding your little body telling you how smart you were. We have a candle lit for you as well, actually, we have had one lit since the 1st of May when we lost our very best friend. We love you Clarence and we will never forget you the sunshine in your eyes whenever you pranced into a room! I miss saying goodnight to you and brushing the fur between your two little coal eyes that were already in dreamland.....I love you! and I will see you in my dreams :-)

“ May 25th. Tomorrow is memorial day. A day in which we will remember both your grandfathers....Both whom loved you (I have to laugh) SO VERY MUCH!!!! They both loved to hold you and spoil you whenever they were around!! We will also remember you. Your candle is lit along with theirs.

Actually, yours has been lit since May 1st that fateful day we lost our best friend. The glow of you will remain forever in us just like grandpa, who loved to sneak you corners of toast whenever he visited.

You are forever my bubie!! My Clarence day is hard to start without you. My lovely, lovely boy.....you are forever....."as good as gold, but just better" My heart aches for you everyday. I miss stroking the fur between your eyes and saying goodnight just before bed while you lay on your chair sleeping.....good night my sweet prince :-) I will see you in my dreams.....Mom

Not a day without tears though....I looked for you today in my memory from when you were a baby going to Adam and Aarons baseball games, you were a fan of everyone then! Then when you were about 5 going to the Shrine parades from the curb side and graduating at probably 6 to riding the Harley with Dad. Boy were you just plain cool....LOL you loved life and you were never afraid you would ever get hurt. Golf carts and bicycles were a favorite too. Remember riding the tracks in Talcottville???? “ Dear Marianne and Alan,

I'll always remember the warm reception Clarence, along with his two siblings, gave me when I arrived at your beautiful home in Vero Beach. He was such a sweet little fella.

How lucky for you that you had him by your sides for so, so many years; nineteen, I believe. The plethora of memories you must have stored up...whew!

I love all animals; always have, ever since childhood. Dogs, however, hold a very special place in my heart. I was blessed to have had a fella by my side for nearly as long as you had C Man by yours, and I thank God every day for having brought him into my life. I know you'll do the same, with and without tears, but the smiles you'll so often have on your faces, when thinking of him, will in time far outweigh the sorrow.

May he have a ball with George and his other buddies that have passed. And may the pups and us all be together when it's our time for the next journey.

Much love - and admiration - for the way you so deeply love your animals.

John, Thank you SO much for your kind words. I do thank god everyday for that precious little soul. There isn't too many memories I can recall without him in them! I carry a 20 lb. weight on my chest since the day he left us....I feel so broken right now.....Clarence is the one in which all others will be judged. He was and is the best soul there ever was. So gentle and pure. We are so thrilled he is there with George, Rocky, Aiden and all the rest. But I await the day I see him sit with St. Peter at the Gates of heaven to greet us again!! Best of luck on the renovating!!! xoxo Marianne & Alan

“ I am sure you are both devastated. I've been praying for you both and Clarence all morning. Like good people, God has a special place for good dogs. Clarence was not only a good dog...he was exceptional. Because not only did he have a good soul but he had a big and courageous heart. From the very start he endured all that life threw at him. And he accepted it as though that was what life is all about. Perhaps his attitude towards these challenges is something we should take heed in and apply to our lives. Although we feel as though we train dogs...I believe that dogs train us. They teach us how to love unconditionally. They teach us how to laugh when everything seems to be going wrong. And they teach us how to leave this world with dignity. I believe that Clarence taught us all that and more. And I thank God for the blessing that brought Clarence into all of our lives. He started it all...and his influence on us will be there forever.

Love you both
