

Jimmy Petradellis

August 27, 2025

Jimmy was special. He was stubborn and at times grumpy. He didn't care for too many people or even other dogs. You were lucky if he was indifferent towards you because if Jimmy didn't like you, he made sure you knew it. He lived by his own rules. Could be vindictive and enjoyed retaliation if he didn't get his way. But we loved him. He was smarter than most humans, living life with his own agenda and schedule. We butted heads a lot and he could frustrate even the most forgiving of nuns, priests and monks. But we loved him. Those closest to Jimmy saw his tender side. How sweet and loving he could be while making it known that he had standards, self-respect and boundaries. Jimmy was not your average dog by any means, and at 18 years old, far exceeded a dogs typical life span and changed many people's perspective on dogs. I wish I could've had more time with Jimmy. He molded the very person I am today while teaching me lessons in patience and love. I will always love my soul dog and will always feel like there was more that could've been done for him. Whether 18 years or forever, neither one would've been enough.
