“ Sweet baby girl, Willow...I'm so happy that I got a chance to meet you, if not for a brief moment when your mommy Kyrra came to my house to borrow my bike. You were in the back seat of her truck, just as happy as can be. You were so friendly, and you came to the window to say hello to me!! Such a sweet girl. Mommy misses you dearly. Please visit her in your dreams, because you are and forever will be her furbaby. Rest in peace, Sweet Willow.

I love you Kyrra, and I'm praying for your peace and comfort. Just remember, all dogs go to heaven. Willow is at the Rainbow Bridge. She'll be waiting for you. You'll meet again. xoxoxo

“ Thank Heaven for Little Girls
Written By: Willow's Mom, Ms. Mosley

Sweet sweet girl... my joy
I found an abundance of happiness in you.
Your unconditional love is priceless
Coming home to your greeting was the highlight of my day
You would gaze at me with your big beautiful eyes.
Whether I am driving and look behind me to find you fixed on me
Or taking a shower I would peer past the curtain and You would be sitting outside the bathroom waiting patiently as I finished.
Wherever I would go, you would be right by my side.
Every morning you were accustomed to my sleeping habits.
Glaring alarm, multiple snooze button, but you would not budge
Because you knew I would hop out hit silence and hop back in bed.
You instantaneously acquired my lifestyle.
From the first moment I saw you, I fell in love.
You stole my heart.
From one photo, you had me at Petco prepping for your arrival.
In the car the following day, anticipating our union.
I tried to shower you with all the love a mother could have.
Training you to be well behaved was difficult but you remained loyal.
Although we were growing together you needed me and I needed you.

I searched high and low for you.
Always seemed to be one step behind you never close enough
It appears you were looking for me and I was looking for you.
Reported sightings never seem to be outside of our Boro
You were just around the corner in this vast town but intangible.
Everyone wanted your safe arrival and so did I.

Rest assure God makes no mistakes...
Everything is according to his will.
He needed you, more than I needed you.

*And in the short life you lived you lived a purposely filled life.
You touched so many people's lives.
You brought so many people together.
Strangers yet bonded by one common cause. To bring you home.
Your love was infectious and I was able to share you with so many.
I am not to question why but even in my mourning I sought the positive.
You expanded my new network of friends.
Opened my eyes to see the beauty within my community
Regain faith that there are exemplary folks still out there.
It saddens me that they never will formally get to meet you.
But hopefully through my love they see how much beautiful you are.*

*Collectively, we prayed together for your safe return
It may not have been in the manner we hoped for
But Finally you are home where you belong.
Although you roamed around for three days I know God was with you.
Every Day I waited for one more lead.
God knew that I would look for you daily until you were found.
I would sleep downstairs on the couch waiting for your scratching on the door.
Drive up to the house anticipating you napping in your bed in the garage.
I would be searching and hoping to welcome you home
But God knew this and he placed three little angels to help find you.
I hope your tragic death you did not suffer
And you knew how much I loved you and will continue to love you.
May you rest in eternal peace in God's loving care
Safe in his loving arms.*

*I miss you!!!
GOD has blessed me to be your mommy.*

 Yvette Robles

I remember the day willow and her brothers and sisters were born. They were almost all identical. Beautiful puppies but willow had two different color eyes. Her name was baby. I helped all of them find a home and when willows mom was looking for the perfect companion I paired them up. It was a joy and blessing to see them connect the very first time they met. Willow was a spoiled baby. From day one. I'm sorry she is gone but she couldn't have been placed with a better family then she was with. I'm positive she enjoyed everyday she was with us. Now may she rest in peace in doggie heaven.
