“ Hey, my little wolf, it's been almost a year since you left us, and I miss you so much. Today's Mother's Day and my first without you, I feel the empty pace you left behind. You were the first I greeted in the morning on Mother's Day and in the mornings. I wish soo much you were here. I love you, my little wolf.

“ Its been a while since ive seen you and i know it'll be a long time until we ever meet, but every day i think about you and i always remember me waking up on the couch with you next to me. Ill never forget you and you were the only friend i would enjoy spending time with in the house. I miss when you would wait for me by the kitchen and i miss when you would run around and get riled up when i play with you. You're all i have been thinking about and you will always have my heart. Im trying as hard as i can to hide what i feel but whenever i think of you i cant hold it. I see you in my dreams and i always hate waking up from them. I know there's nothing i can do but remember but ill always be waiting for the day i can finally see you and pet you again.

“ Hey little wolf I thought a lot about you today. I kept looking around the house and pitching you in every spot that you use to lay down the most at. I used to love late at night whenever I've heard a noise or I didn't want to be by myself you were there, you were always there and now that you're gone, I'm still having a difficult time pitching life without you. I miss you everyday and every second.

“ No other dog will ever replace the amount of love or happiness I was gifted from you. You saved me after I lost him. Every toy every treat ever small piece of food id sneak to you meant everything to me. Spoiling you with toys no one enjoyed seeing scattered everywhere meant so much. I didn't care who thought u had too many toys the excitement you'd show made me happy. I wish I could hear u howl or bark at me. I wish I could be rubbing your head or giving u kisses that everyone thought was weird. I wish you could be jumping on my bed again. You were so loved boy❤️

“ Oh sweet, Ry. You are so loved. You brought joy to everyone around you, you truly were the sweetest pup. I'll never forget Elias laughing and trying to ride you like a horse. You two would play with each other for hours. You even won over grandma Kali! You were such a gentle regal giant. We will miss you. ☐

“ Oh Ryder may you rest in peace in Doggie Heaven. You couldn't have been loved more and I know you left a void in the hearts of your Mom, Dad, Brothers and Sister. You will always be remembered. Run free in doggie paradise way up above.

“ He was such an amazing companion, best friend, and my little wolf. He loved peanut butter and whenever we sang happy birthday he would howl. He was extremely smart and super friendly. He adored children and loved playing with his family and favorite purple donut toy. He was extremely loved and is missed every second of the day. He was the greatest mothers day gift I received and he soon became my heart and apart of our family. Our family is incomplete without him. He was sooo loved by his siblings and parents. Ryder you are forever missed and we love you my little wolf, till we meet again.
