“ So you remember where your home is, your home is always and forever with us. We love you and miss you always. I just want you to know that you were brave and a fighter and a champ and you won the battle because you are no longer in pain and cancer can never hurt you again. You never let us down. I love you my baby. You were never my pet or dog you were always my son. I am so grateful to you for choosing us as your family. You are perfect in every single way. You were such a lovable boy. Thank you for letting us love you and for you loving us unconditionally. Sweet dreams my little baby and put in a good word for me up there.

“ My poor little boy Scoutie,

I miss you so very much. You were always a good boy. We had so much fun together. I will never forget how I would always sing to you and you would howl along. You were always hitting all those high notes and drowning me out. You were such a showoff and a superstar.

You always liked to just surf and swim in the pool. You also loved to walked on the edge of the pool when you were a little bit of a thing but were surprised when you fell in. lol. You loved taking baths in the yard. I would give you a bath and then you would show your appreciation and give me a bath in return. lol. You have such a strong and proud bark. You would even dance and do the two step when you would bark and get excited. I loved it so much. The whole neighborhood knew who you were.

We put elves on your head at Christmas time, dressed you up for halloween and the kids that were trick or treating would be so happy and excited that you and your little brother Bosco were dressed they would forget about the candy. We dressed you in bathing suits as well, and even in a bathrobe. Do you remember the purple bathrobe with the yellow duck on the back. Your red sweater and coat, yeah you wore it with pride. And you never complained.

I loved when we would come home and find you by the phone or on the iPad. You were a very smart and up to date dog on the electronics. And you were also a candy crush junky. lol. That will be our little secret. You were always the first one to say goodbye to me by the window and to say hello to me when I came home. I was so excited to you see you as you were me.

You loved going out all the time and just sitting on the porch and being nosy. I am so so sorry that I did not as often as I should. I hope you could forgive me. You were also our great protector. you would chase all the animals away. We would go in the yard and we would turn around and you would have a muskrat in your mouth. You would chase all the cats that pooped in my yard away. You would tell them that this was your house and your yard. Do you remember when you chased the skunk out of the yard but he didn't quite leave without giving you a gift first. lol. We had to give you so many baths and the house stunk for a few days. it was just horrible. But we all laughed and laughed about it once the smell cleared out. lol. Do you also remember the time when daddy thought he heard something or he thought someone in the yard and it was really late at night. I watched from the back window. He had you in one hand and a little bat in the other. He let your leash go thinking you were going to chase out the bad guy but you just went over to the gazebo and lifted up your leg and did your business. lol. That was so great and priceless. Luckily there was no intruder just another animal. But I would tease you and say that you were our fearless guard dog and if we ever really did have an intruder you would hold him down and lick him to death. lol. Oh yeah my Scoutie boy you gave us such great memories and many laughs.

Poor little Bosco waits by the window and looks for you and when we come home he runs to the door and sees you are not with us and goes and plops back on the windowsill. He has lost his best friend and his big brother.

We all miss you so much. Our lives will never be the same without you. I miss you so much at night because you would always sleep with me and kick daddy out of the bed. lol. Now I have to sleep with him again.

You will never know how important you were in our lives and how much it will change. I want you to know that you have never disappointed me or let me down. I was so proud of you and I hope that I never disappointed you. I want you to know that you chose me and thank you for loving me.

I know that your face will be the first face I see when I get to heaven and you will be right there wagging your tail and smiling at me.

I love you so much my boy for always and forever.

Love always Mommy. xoxoxo
