“ In loving memory and dedication to Snickers Burgos...

WAITING AT THE DOOR

"I was just a pup when we first met. I loved you from the start. You picked me up, took me home and placed me in your heart. Good times we had together, we shared all that life could throw, but years passed all too quickly, and now my time has come to go. I know how much you miss me. I know your heart is sore. I see the tears that fall when I'm not waiting at the door. You always did your best for me, your love was plain to see, for even though it broke your heart, you set my spirit free. So please be brave without me, one day we'll meet once more, for when you're called to Heaven, I'll be Waiting At The Door."

Rest in peace, furr-baby. Thank you for all the joy, love, and beautiful memories you gave. And thank you for the paw-prints you left in our hearts. You will never be forgotten and will always be truly missed.

To my beautiful sister, I'm so truly sorry for your loss. Please take comfort in knowing that you gave Snickers the best life & the most love any furr-baby could ever have. He'll always be with you, watching over you from that Rainbow Bridge in Heaven.

“ Snickers,
Though I never had the chance to meet you, it's clear how deeply you were loved. Any dog who could bring that kind of joy to Chrissey must have been something truly special. You were more than a pet—you were family, comfort, and a constant source of happiness.

Rest easy, sweet boy. Your love lives on in every memory you left behind. 🐾🐾

“ It feels like Snickers was with me since the beginning. Many first days of school and graduations, he was by my side. To wake up in the morning and not hear his annoying barking hurts me more than anything. Snickers was an irreplaceable best friend and family member.

“ In Loving Memory of Snickers
June 21, 2012 – April 6, 2026

Snickers, my sweet boy, my little son, passed away far too soon, leaving behind a love that will never fade.

I still remember the day I got him like it was yesterday. My brother Benny and I drove hours from Newark to Allentown, Pennsylvania to bring him home. From the very beginning, he was full of personality...running around like a little maniac, not listening to a word, already showing me exactly who he was... my little knucklehead. Even then, I knew he was special.

Snickers was never “difficult.” He was misunderstood. He had his own way, his own spirit, and if you took the time to really see him, you’d know how much love lived inside that tiny body.

To me, he was everything.

My boppi boy.

My little boy.

My itcha baby.

My “how cutey.”

My sweet boy

My baby..

My whole heart.

He had the sweetest little face, the kind that could melt anything, even on his most stubborn days. He made me laugh, even when he was barking at everyone, getting triggered by everything, or trying to go after his sister and his Dada like he ran the house. That was him, funny, bold, full of life.

And no matter what, he was always there for me. Every time I cried, he was near. He felt me. He stayed with me. He loved me in a way that only something truly pure can.

I miss your stinky kisses...And I love you...

Losing him to a tumor has left a hole in my heart that words can’t fully explain. I would give anything for more time ..for one more moment to hold him close, like I did that first day in the car, when I pressed him against my heart and knew he was mine.

Snickers wasn’t just a dog.

*He was my son.
And I will miss him for the rest of my life.
Forever loved. Forever missed.
My sweet boy... until I see you again.
I LOVE YOU BOPPI BOY*
