“ Today I lost my baby, my son, my best friend, my soul mate, the largest love of my life, my world. I knew the day would come and no matter how hard I tried to accept it I just couldn't. I had to make a difficult decision and put my baby to rest, he died peacefully in my arms at 8:30am. The memory of when I walked into the pet store around Christmas time came to my mind. I wasn't planning on walking out with anything those 17 years ago but there he was, a little 2lb Black and Tan fur ball, I knew he was mine the moment we laid eyes on each other, I tapped on the window and he stood up on his hind legs with his paws against the glass and scratched against that window at 100mph. From that moment on; Zachary stood by my side for all those years, he was with me through all the up's and down's, every failed relationship, heart break, every tragedy and triumph in my life during our time together, he never left my side once, he was my rock in so many ways. We went everywhere together, traveling on airplanes, trains and road trips. Everyone who knew Zachary immediately fell in love with him, he was like a little angel and he adored the friends and loved ones I brought into his life too. It's going to be very hard to imagine him gone, I know I will miss the, endless snuggles, the million and one licks on my face, the crunching when he ate, the clicking of his paws on the hardwood floors, the way he would bring me his toys when I came home from work or being out. He knew the sound of my car and would screech so loud you can hear it on Mars when he knew I was coming home. Nothing and nobody ever loved me as much as that little baby did. My soul hurts and my heart is broken and Zach isn't here to help me through it. I will never be the same. I thank God he brought us together and I know Zach will be there waiting for me when it's my time, and I'm going up there with my arms open waiting for him to jump into them again for eternity. Thank you for the most wonderful 17 years of my life Zach Rest in heavenly peace Sonny Boy your Papa Loves You boo. 💔💔💔
